Ancient and ever young Tbilisi

Lying on the banks of the Mtkvari River, Tbilisi is the capital and largest city of Georgia. Tbilisi is sometimes called Tiflis, which is its medieval non-native name.

Made the capital of the country in the 4th century Tbilisi is a significant industrial, social, and cultural center in the Caucasus. The city is also emerging as an important transit route for global energy and trade projects. Located strategically at the crossroads between Europe and Asia and lying along the historic Silk Road routes, Tbilisi has often been the point of contention between various rivaling powers and empires. The history of the city shows through its architecture, where the modern Rustaveli Avenue and downtown are blended with narrower streets of the Medieval Narikala district.

Demographic picture of the city is diverse. Historically it has been home to peoples from different cultures, religions and ethnicities. Being overwhelmingly Orthodox Christian, Tbilisi is one of the only places in the world, where a synagogue and a mosque are located next to each other in the ancient Bath district several hundred meters from the Metekhi Church (an Orthodox Christian church).

There is abundance of architectural sights (starting from those dating back to the 4th century BC up to modern times); museums; concert halls; cafes and restaurants; eastern markets; and parks and fountains. The average temperature in June - 25-28 °C / 77-82 °F); food and drinks are exceptionally good and inexpensive; and people are friendly and cordial.

Dear Colleagues,

We are happy to invite you to Tbilisi, Georgia to take part in the 17th Meeting of the European Hair Research Society will be held on June 24-26, 2016 at the Tbilisi State University.

The Meeting will bring together hair biologists, dermatologists, cosmetic scientists and hair transplantation surgeons for this two and a half day comprehensive hair research conference. International colleagues will present new research, share experiences, and discuss new directions for the advancement of knowledge in hair growth, hair and scalp disease, and clinical care. It will be an excellent occasion to exchange and discuss the newest scientific progresses in hair biology, diagnosis and therapy, to widen the knowledge of youngest researchers and, ultimately, to meet old friends and to acquire new ones.

The fact that EHRs Meeting is carrying out first time in the Eastern Europe country imposes on us more responsibility. Undoubtedly, our conference will continue the tradition of previous EHRs meetings - provide the most updated information in the field of hair research, and give the participants an opportunity of meeting experts from all over the world. At the same time we are planning to maintain the tradition of successful large international medical conferences organized by us for the last 5 years. The structure of the meeting is similar to the previous ones. Abstract publication and posters session have also been planned.

We sincerely hope that you will enjoy the scientific part of the meeting, as well as the unique historical environment of Tbilisi. Your presence here will be appreciated by the organizing committee, and also by all medical professionals of Georgia. We will try our best so that for those who will be in Tbilisi first time the experience might be unforgettable.

It is our great pleasure to welcome you to Tbilisi in June 2016.
